DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Acknowledgment is made of applicant's claim for foreign priority based on an application filed in Japan on December 20, 2001. It is noted, however, that applicant has not filed a certified copy of the Japanese application as required by 35 U.S.C. 119(b).

Information Disclosure Statement

2. Receipt is acknowledged of the Information Disclosure Statement (IDS) received December 20, 2001.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 2652

4. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kawato et al (JP 11-175925) in view of Fontana, Jr. et al (US 5,729,410).

Kawato et al shows in figure 3 a current-perpendicular-to-the-plane (CPP) or tunnel junction structure (TMJ) magnetoresistive element. The CPP or TMJ includes a lower portion of a magnetoresistive film extending over a surface of a lower electrode layer 21 by a first width in a lateral direction. An upper portion of the magnetoresistive film extends over a surface of the lower portion by a second width smaller than the first width in the lateral direction. Insulators 27 sandwich the upper portion of the magnetoresistive film in the lateral direction. Figure 3 also shows an upper electrode layer contacting the upper portion of the magnetoresistive film. Kawato et al shows in figure 3 the upper portion of the magnetoresistive film includes a free magnetic layer 30.

Kawato et al, however, is silent as to domain control magnetic layers sandwiching the upper portion of the magnetoresistive film. Kawato et al is silent as to the insulator being a magnetic.

Fontana, Jr. et al shows in figure 4a, for example, domain control magnetic layers 150 sandwiching the upper portion of the magnetoresistive film.

It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide domain control magnetic layers sandwiching the upper portion of the magnetoresistive film of Kawato et al as taught by Fontana, Jr. et al. The rationale is as follows: one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made would have been motivated to provide domain control magnetic layers sandwiching the upper portion of the magnetoresistive film so as to bias the sense current in the preferred direction.
